CITY OFFICIALS SWORN IN

An Interesting Ceremony Before the Mayor at City Hall Today

The newly elected city officials were sworn in this morning at City Hall in an interesting ceremony. This is a departure from the custom of past years when the officials of the city have called at City hall, one at a time and taken the oath of office before the city clerk and had their action recorded in the city books.

This morning at ten o'clock they assembled in the council chamber and before qualifying for their positions listened to a brief address by Mayor E. H. Adams.

The Mayor's Remarks

His Honor, the mayor, spoke as follows:

Gentlemen—You have already been notified of your election to serve the city in the various offices. Before entering upon the duties of these offices I have thought it wise to have you come in here together and take the oath of office, thus giving me personal knowledge that you have qualified under the law, also an opportunity to speak to you a word of suggestion and congratulation.

Let us continue to remember that a public office is a public trust, and to honorably discharge the duties of that trust involves a personal conscience and a personal responsibility. That you have met the approbation of our citizens in the discharge of your duties during the year past is evidenced by your re-election. For all you have done I thank you, and in your election and re-election I congratulate you.

This year in our work together let us rise above the letter of the laws and find both the letter and spirit of duty in a larger service to the public.

They Took the Oath

The oath of office was then administered by city clerk Hilton to the following men:

Charles B. Johnston, city physician and member of the board of health. John D. Randall, chief engineer of fire department.

Joseph W. Akerman, first assistant engineer of fire department.

William F. Wood, second assistant engineer of fire department.

Elmer E. Clark, city messenger.

John C. Batchelder, city treasurer.

Walter H. Page, collector of taxes.

Henry B. Prior, city auditor.

Robert H. Harding, city solicitor.

Hiram C. Locke, overseer of the poor.

Winfield S. Lord, city inspector.

William M. Ballard, inspector of wires, poles and fire alarm.

John A. Cornelius, inspector of plumbing.

Harry T. Wendell, keeper of powder magazine.

May Be a Permanent Practice

Mayor Adams stated today that this dignified and impressive method of inducting the city officials into their positions seems more in harmony with the importance of their work than does the go-as-they-please plan of the past. He hopes to see the change become a city custom which the citizens will witness each year.

REVOKED A PORTSMOUTH LICENSE

The New Hampshire license commissioners, at a meeting in Concord on Friday, revoked the license of Walter S. Cummings, landlord of the National hotel on High street in this city.

This is the result of the recent hearing at Concord upon charges preferred by a license inspector.

EVENTS OF ELIOT

A South Eliot Boy Takes a Job in Boston

Highways Were Somewhat Blocked from the Snow Storm

Elliot, Me., Jan. 15. Captain Dallas W. Cobb, Jr., of the Portsmouth Salvation Army corps, will occupy the pulpit at the Congregational church on Sunday morning in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Edgar T. Pitts. There is much interest in the parish as to whether Mr. Pitts will accept the call to Epping, N. H., and an announcement is expected during the coming week. He will preach in Epping on Sunday.

Mrs. Walter Hodgdon is at home from Brooklyn, N. Y., where she has been visiting her sister.

Mrs. George E. Ireland spent Thursday with relatives in New Castle, N. H.

The East Eliot Methodist parish is to have a party in the near future at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Bartlett at Rosemary.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Carter pleasantly entertained the East Eliot Ladies' Industrial club on Tuesday afternoon. A feature of the occasion was an original poem by Mrs. Carter.

Harlow, Paul of South Eliot, a graduate of Taft Academy in Kittery, has taken a position with a large insurance company in Boston and will enter upon his new duties Monday morning, Jan. 17.

Jasper Shapleigh has been on a visit to Dover.

The snowfall was light in Friday night's storm, but the wind drifted it badly, blocking the highways in some places.

The Plymouth Business school of Portsmouth, which has numerous Kittery representatives, is to establish a basketball team.

The Troqueville club will hold its second annual ball at Wentworth hall, Thursday evening, Jan. 27. Late cars will be run to Elliot, Portsmouth and Kittery Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Baker of Love Lane will pass Sunday in York, the guests of Mrs. Baker's parents.

Charles E. Woods of Locke's Cove has returned from a business trip to New York.

The storm did not appreciably delay either electric cars, mails or delivery papers, much to the surprise of every body.

Miss Mary Hanscom of North Hampton was in town Friday to attend the concert of the Choral society.

Twenty-two of the members of the gypsy moth force under the direction of the Maine Department of Agriculture, nearly all of whom have been stationed here or are known to many Kittery residents, held a banquet at Hotel Elmwood, at Wells Beach, Thursday evening. The gathering was addressed by Capt. E. J. Philbrook of Portland, special field agent, who spoke of the efficient way in which the work has been handled the past year. Among other speakers were E. M. Sadler, C. C. Nichols, H. L. Spinney, A. O. Pike, A. M. G. Soule, S. M. Moulton, W. H. Anderson, F.

That the fame of the old Portsmouth shipbuilders rested on a solid foundation was well demonstrated to the present generation Friday, when the three masted schooner Annie F. Conlon, which took the water at Fernald's shipyard at Freeman's Point 27 years ago, escaped wholly unscathed from the dreaded Stillman's Rock west of the ship channel in the lower harbor.

Add to this the facts that the old schooner, left nearly high and dry for eight hours, was heavily loaded with 800 tons of coal, and that a furious northeast gale had already begun to lash the coast, and she may well be pronounced as sturdy a craft as is to be found on the Atlantic coast today. Shipping men say that few vessels in such circumstances would have survived.

The Conlon will be hauled out on the marine railway at South Portland, after discharging her cargo of coal, for the satisfaction of the insurance company, though no repairs will have to be made, it is anticipated.

She will then load fruit box shoals at Portland for Martinique, British West Indies. This will be the Conlon's first voyage off shore for a good many years.

THE WEATHER

Saturday night and Sunday—Clear weather with cold northerly winds.

The storm is moving northeasterly much more slowly than was anticipated when the prediction was made of clearing weather during Friday night.

FUNERAL NOTICE

Funeral services of Mr. J. Frank Magraw will be held at St. John's church, this city, Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock.

Seldom have lovers of good music been privileged to gratify their taste to such surfeit as on Friday evening when the Second Christian church was filled to its utmost for the production of Stainer's Crucifixion by the Kittery Choral society assisted by the Lotus Male Quartette of Boston, which latter consists of Robert Martin as first tenor; William Hicks second tenor; Nelson Raymond baritone and Frank Cannell basso. Charles C. Prescott's fine work as conductor received its reward in the deafening applause which invariably greeted the results of his toil and the selections by the visitors alike.

Principal J. W. S. Hodgdon of the Horace Mitchell school has inaugurated a sport which should become as popular as skating or ice boating; that of double runner racing. The first contest was held Friday afternoon on Tenny's Hill before a goodly number of spectators, and only last night's storm prevented its repetition this morning. The contestants were Arthur Fletcher, Edgar Seaward, Charles Cobb, Foster Tobey, Ben Seaward, Wesley Randall and Harold Grace. A set of rules governed the race. First prize was awarded to Lester Tobey and second to Charles Cobb.

More Discharges at Boston

One hundred men were discharged at Boston yard on Thursday in the yard on Thursday in the manufacturing department owing to lack of work. It is understood that the remaining number will have to be considerably reduced. His department includes the machinery shops, where the usual force is about 800 men.

Changing Things Around at the Store

Paymaster Venable is making complete changes at the general store in the way of shifting the force of clerks to different rooms and selecting different locations for the supplies throughout the building.

Freight Shipment Will Cause Delay

There is likely to be another delay in the sailing of the U. S. S. Paducah owing to a shipment of freight from New York which the department started sending on Friday.

Don't Want Men Dismissed

A delegation of the National League of Government Employees from this city and Boston on Friday held a conference today with Assistant Secretary Windrop of the Navy in regard to the general improvement of labor conditions in the government navy yards.

Among other questions considered was that of furloughing employees instead of dismissing them when work was slack.

Tailor Bills Caused Trouble

A general court martial to try Capt. Franklin S. Wilts, U. S. M. C., on a charge of non-payment of debts until appeals were made in the navy department will meet in New York on Jan. 17. Rear Admiral L. C. Hellner is president of the court, with Major H. Leonard, U. S. M. C., as judge advocate. Other members of the court are Colonel Waller, Lieutenant Colonel Kane and Major Catlin, U. S. M. C. Tailor bills were the largest alleged to have been unpaid. Within the last few days the bills have been paid, it is understood. Captain Wilts will be defended by Lieut. Comdr. W. J. Terhune, U. S. N., who will be assisted in the defense by Arthur B. La Far and George Hiram Mann.

Need of Coal Causes Come Change

The many departments found it impossible to wait for the collier Steamer to bring a cargo of coal to this station being as the same is wanted in a hurry, consequently the coal had to be sent here in a barge. However the department has ordered the collier here for repairs and she is now expected to come along by the last of this month.

Wants Oiling Stations

Oiling stations for the navy instead of coaling stations, is one of the proposals Secretary Meyer is now considering in connection with the future of the ships of war. A plan is under consideration for the conversion of the coaling station, now in progress of construction at San Diego, Cal., into an oiling station, so that ships may replenish their supply of fuel oil should its use be generally adopted.

The Kittery Bridge Again

The second call for proposals relative to repairs on the Kittery bridge leading to the yard will be opened at Washington on February 1.

It's a Good Thing

By orders from the accounting officer the workmen who are ill or unable to receive their pay on the regular day will hereafter have no trouble as the amount covering wages will be sent to his address direct from the navy pay office. This is in the minds of the workmen a move in the right direction and will be a great accommodation to the yard employees in general.

Not Putting in, They Say at Vallejo

There is considerable movement at Mare Island yard and in the city of Vallejo closely over the report having reached Washington that the Merchants' association there have endorsed the Newberry plan of consolidation at the navy yard. The navy department refuses to give out the names of the parties behind the letters that have reached it. The secretary of the Merchants' associations writes Secretary Meyer stating that the club is the only commercial organization in the city and that its business is purely local and that it is not trying to advise the secretary as to the proper manner of conducting the department.

KITTERY
CHORAL
SOCIETYSplendid concert in the Maine
Village Friday Evening

Once again the Kittery Choral society has scored another decided hit in its rendition of Steiner's Crucifixion, and the town across the river has reason to feel proud of its organization of vocalists. This mid-winter concert under the direction of Chas. Prescott was heard by a musical audience from the surrounding country who are pleased to announce the work of the society as perfect. The program opened with the Crucifixion by the chorus assisted by Mr. Hicks tenor, and Mr. Raymond, baritone, of Boston.

This was given with perfect harmony and exquisite expression, demonstrating the fact that the hard work carried on for the past several weeks by the director and his company of singers brought out this beautiful composition most effectively in every point. It is doubtful if another town of its size can produce the work of this society with more merit.

The Lotus male quartet of Boston furnished six numbers of the program and there is no question but their selections were a vocal treat to music lovers that is seldom given in a small town.

This organization of sixty voices should be in every way encouraged. This work in the past shows that energy in taking up such composition as it did. Besides the excellent training by Mr. Prescott the organization has much to be thankful for in the work of its accompanist, Miss Florence G. Marshall of this city, who is most able in work of this kind.

Kittery certainly has a master of such events in Mr. Prescott, who formed this musical body and will much hard work has advanced the society to a point where it is a credit to the town and local musical circles.

PRESIDENT AS PEACEMAKER

Succeeds In Ending War In Republican Ranks

AGREEMENT IS REACHED

"Stand Patters" and "Insurgents" Will Join In Party Caucuses and Stand by Decisions Regarding Party Policies and Action—Congressmen Dwight and Hayes Share Honors In the Establishment of Peace

Washington, Jan. 15.—Issuing an ultimatum to the "Insurgents" to the effect that the only proof of their Republicanism would be acceptance of the breaking of their alliance with the Democrats, President Taft has now succeeded in ending the bitter party war that threatened the very life of the party in power.

For the remainder of the present session, unless something entirely unforeseen shall arise, "stand pat" and "insurgent" Republicans will enter party caucuses together, decide upon party policies and action and abide by the decisions. President Taft insists upon this and the "insurgents" have yielded.

To Taft belongs the chief credit for matching up the difficulties that had widened so alarmingly in the Republican majority of the house. Next to the president, Representative Dwight of New York, the Republican "whip" of the house, is receiving praise for the accomplishment of peace. It was he who first suggested caucuses and obtained the adherence of the speaker and the president to that plan. A share of the credit is also due to Representative Hayes of California, the leader of the "insurgents," through whom the president carried on practically all his negotiations with those men.

It was upon the immediate issue—namely, the elections of six men to represent the house on the committee which is to investigate the interior department and the forestry bureau—that the basis of settlement was reached, but it goes further than that.

Not content with their memorable victory over Speaker Cannon and his followers last week, when they prevented the speaker appointing the house members of the investigating committee, the "insurgents" held out for a "fair committee" which, they admitted, meant that they expected to be recognized by the Cannon Republicans to the extent of being permitted to have a representative on the committee. This was the situation when Dwight, in his capacity of "whip," undertook to bring about peace and please everybody concerned.

The Cannon men have promised the "insurgents" a fair committee, which will be composed of three regular Republicans, one "insurgent" Republican and two Democrats. This is perfectly satisfactory to the "insurgents."

OLNEY UNDER THE KNIFE

Former Secretary of State Recovering From a Surgical Operation

Boston, Jan. 15.—Richard Olney, secretary of state in the late President Cleveland's cabinet, has been at death's door in the Corey Hill hospital in Brookline. Yesterday a change for the better came, and last night it was announced by Mrs. Olney that her husband would be able to leave the hospital within a week.

Mr. Olney was operated upon for an abdominal trouble on Tuesday. Just what the nature of the operation was his wife would not divulge. The fact that he was ill has been guarded with great secrecy.

WEIGHS NEARLY HALF A TON

Portland Fishermen Capture Giant Shark After a Pitted Battle

Portland, Me., Jan. 15.—The biggest shark ever brought to this port arrived here on the fisherman Carrie and Mildred. It weighed nearly half a ton and measured more than ten feet in length.

It was only after a pitched battle in which the crew used axes that the shark was captured. It was first caught in a net, which it nearly destroyed before it could be dragged up to the side of the boat and dispatched with blows from axes.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

Arrest of Youth Supposed to Have Caused Policeman's Death

Boston, Jan. 15.—A warrant charging Henry J. Leavoy, 19 years old, Jamaica Plain, with the murder of Patrolman Daniel J. Donovan, was issued by Judge Murray and Leavoy will be arraigned today.

The evidence which the police claim to have against Leavoy is that just previous to the encounter at the corner of Beach and Hudson streets, Donovan was standing on the corner, Leavoy came around the corner. Some words passed between Leavoy and Donovan. Suddenly Leavoy hit Donovan in the face with the flat of his hand. Donovan fell on the stone steps of a basement back of him. His head hit the stone and it was this impact which fractured his skull and caused his death soon after.

Later Leavoy was arrested in Jamaica Plain on a burglary charge. His description there tallied with the description sent out of the man wanted in the Donovan case. Leavoy was identified by three witnesses as the man who had the altercation with Donovan.

MANICURE GIRL SUED

Also Named as Correspondent In Pittsburg Society Divorce Suit

Pittsburg, Jan. 15.—The last of the batch of 145 divorce cases for this week in the Pittsburg courts bids fair to be the most sensational in years.

Frederick W. Cox of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, a man of good standing, has been sued by his wife, Mary T. Cox, a social leader, for divorce.

She names Mrs. Anna Alechire, a buxom little manicure, as correspondent, and in another court she sues the manicure girl for $20,000 damages for alienating the affections of her husband.

The wife alleges that Mrs. Alechire is worth more than $20,000; that Cox, her husband, who is infatuated with the girl, has given her more than this much in the past two years.

FIFTY-SIX-HOUR LAW BRINGS ON A STRIKE

Operatives Object to Reduction In Their Earnings

Fall River, Mass., Jan. 15.—Operatives in several mills are on strike because of dissatisfaction with wages under the new fifty-six-hour law.

As the result of the reduction of two hours a week in the running time of the mills, the operatives lost two hours' earnings per week, and upon receiving their wages under the new schedule yesterday, many left their work at once.

Unless the differences are speedily adjusted, some mills will be forced to suspend operations.

Committees have been appointed by the strikers to confer with the management of the several mills, and an effort will then be made to reach a satisfactory settlement.

$5000 FINE IMPOSED

Stevenson and Amédée Bellaire, who were accused of bringing into the United States five persons from Canada in violation of the contract labor law.

Bellaire and Richard are ordered to pay fines aggregating $5000. In the case of the other defendants no penalty was imposed. A criminal prosecution against the accused was withdrawn by the government.

CONGRESS HAS TAFT'S PLANS

No Further Special Messages Are Anticipated

RESULTS OF LEGISLATION

May Include Amendment of Interstate Commerce Act and Something Toward Conservation of Natural Resources—New Form of Government For Alaska and Possible Establishment of Postal Savings Banks

Washington, Jan. 15.—Congress now has President Taft's complete legislative program before it. The message on conservatism and waterways is the last important communication the legislative body will receive from the president during the session unless something comes up to influence him to change his present plan.

No one can foretell at this time what congress will do with the president's recommendations. Some of them will undoubtedly be enacted into law, some will be thrown overboard, while others will be laid aside for future consideration.

The indications are that the net legislative results of the session so far as important general legislation is concerned will be:

(1) Amendments to the interstate commerce law somewhat along the line suggested by the president.

(2) Conservation legislation putting into effect in a general way the recommendations contained in the president's message of Friday.

(3) A new form of government for the territory of Alaska.

(4) Possibly postal savings banks.

It is now settled that the president's recommendations for a national incorporation law will not take the form of legislation at this session. The president understands that such is the decision of the leaders in congress, and he has expressed his acquiescence in it. The tentative agreement is that this proposed legislation shall go over until the long session of 1911.

The leaders in congress understand the president will be content if he can get from congress at this session a fairly good set of amendments to the interstate commerce law and legislation under which something, actually can be done toward conserving the natural resources of the country. He wants his entire legislative program as outlined in his regular message and in the two special messages of the last eight days completed before the expiration of his term.

It seems inevitable that both the proposed railroad legislation and the conservation legislation will provoke prolonged debate in the senate. Speaker Cannon will probably be able to put the administration bills through the house without much delay.

Senator Cummins, who represents the radicals of the party in power in the senate, has a railroad rate bill which he feels is an improvement over the administration bill. Senators La Follette, Bristow and one or two other senators feel the same way about it. It seems inevitable that the points of difference between the Cummins and the administration bill will call out much debate. In the senate are men who are not in favor of conservation legislation such as the president proposes in his message.

Ocean mail, which the president recommended in his regular message, is hanging in the balance. The president has lost interest in this legislation. He still says that he will be glad to see congress pass a subsidy bill, but he refuses to put the influence of the administration behind the pending bill. The friends of the bill have not lost hope, but they have got to a point where they realize that there is a large possibility of their bill being defeated.

Postal savings banks, also approved by the president in his regular message, occupies very much the same position as ocean mail. The president is still interested in the enactment of a postal savings bank law, but the legislative body continues to display a lack of interest.

It is barely possible that New Mexico will be admitted to statehood before the session ends. The house proposes to pass the statehood bill at once, and the senate committee on territories has half consented to consider the bill after the legislation creating a new form of government for the territory of Alaska is out of the way.

Now that President Taft has put all his recommendations before the legislative body he proposes to sit back and let the congress take the responsibility. This does not mean that he will not say a good word for his legislative program to senators and representatives who call on him; but it does mean that he will not use a club; that he will not be sending in special messages every few days, and will not be sending for members of congress and threatening them with dire punishment unless they support his legislative program.

Holland Favors Peace Court

London, Jan. 15.—A dispatch from The Hague says that Holland will strongly support the American proposal for a permanently sitting court of arbitration.

OLD HERMIT PASSES AWAY

Many People Think He Had Buried Gold Near His Shanty

Melrose, Mass., Jan. 15.—George H. Ireson, the hermit of Melrose, was found dead in the little shanty in which he had lived for twenty-five years. He had not been seen for a week and how many days ago he died or how long he suffered in solitude in his rude tumble-down house no one is able to conjecture.

Ireson was 78 years old and died from old age and a complication of diseases. Whether Ireson was ever married has never been known even to the few people who have spoken to him.

Two years ago the hermit created much excitement by babbling about a box of buried treasures while he was in delirium. He said that it was buried beneath a tree in the woods here. Many people still believe that the hermit has gold hidden about the old hut, and that a search will reveal many hundreds of dollars.

WEDS AND ROBS WOMEN

Specialty Credited to Man Said to Have Half a Hundred Wives

New York, Jan. 15.—With twelve wives in Hoboken, and a string of fifty all told from coast to coast, according to charges made by Chief of Police Hayes of Hoboken, Emilio C. von Muller is to be brought from San Francisco, where he is under arrest, to face trial for bigamy in the New Jersey courts.

According to the investigations made by the Hoboken police von Muller married for the sole purpose of robbery. He would make ardent love to any unattached woman with a few dollars, marry her, get her money and move on in search of another victim.

Von Muller, the police say, did not confine himself to Hoboken entirely, but made excursions to Montclair, Jersey City, other Jersey towns and to Manhattan and Brooklyn. Wherever he went they charge he broke a heart and robbed a purse.

TOO MANY PEOPLE IN LARGE CITIES

Homestead Board Favors Development of Farm Lands

Boston, Jan. 15.—The Massachusetts homestead commission finds that people are flocking to the cities because they prefer to live there rather than in the country, and states that 90 percent of the population is within the cities of the state.

The suggestion is made that farm lands be tabulated so that people who desire them can locate far from congested centers. The commission also suggests land banks and co-operative banks.

There are 171,000 acres of undeveloped tillable land and 1,000,000 acres of unused pasture land in Massachusetts.

BARS FIVE-CENT LOAF

Bill Before Bay State Legislature Hits Those Who Buy Bread

Boston, Jan. 15.—A bill has been presented in the legislature to slice four ounces from a loaf of bread. If the bill becomes a law, a 32-ounce loaf will be reduced to 28 ounces. A 16-ounce loaf will be reduced to 14 ounces, and there will be no more 8-ounce loaves sold. That is, the 5-cent loaf is made illegal.

The price fixed by common usage cannot be changed by law, and the profit goes into the pockets of the wheat barons. This is the view taken by bakers, who say that according to the present law the loaves must be smaller or the price higher, on account of flour prices.

GETS WHITE RHINOCEROS

Roosevelt Accomplishes One of Chief Objects of His African Trip

Butaba, Uganda, Jan. 15.—Theodore Roosevelt has shot the white rhinoceros, which was one of the objects of his African hunting trip, according to advices received here by runner and canoe service on the Bar-el-Jebel river.

The former president got the white rhinoceros at Camp Rhino, where the party now is. Three members of the expedition recruited in Africa are ill with dysentery.

Saw Clips Off Aged Man's Arm Middleboro, Mass., Jan. 15.—Augustus D. Soule, 82, had his right arm severed at the shoulder by a circular saw at his shingle mill here. Soule slipped upon some ice and fell directly in the path of the fast revolving teeth.

O'Connell's Will Upheld Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 15.—The will of ex-Mayor John O'Connell of Marlboro, disposing of an estate worth about $500,000, was allowed by Judge Chamberlain in the probate court here. The will was contested by relatives.

SPANISH PLOT NIPPED IN BUD

Army Officers Implicated In the Conspiracy

HAS WIDE RAMIFICATIONS

Arrest of Prince, Removal of Commandant of Madrid and Rounding Up of Eighty Military Men Furnish Sensational Developments—Grave Rumors of Carlist Uprising—Don Jaime Said to Be Preparing Manifesto

Madrid, Jan. 15.—Prince Pignatelli was arrested for complicity in the plot of the Conservatives to overthrow the government. Later eighty army officers were taken. They were in the Military club when a cordon of police was thrown around the building and they were taken into custody.

Count Devillar, captain general of Madrid, has been removed. There are rumors that Alfonso's life has been in grave danger.

Other startling arrests are expected. The plot to bring about the overthrow of the government is said to be far-reaching and to have its root in foreign capitals. Prince Pignatelli is an Italian and an enthusiastic supporter of the Clerical party.

The officers implicated have been sent to various provincial fortresses pending trial by court-martial. The columns of the prince's and queen's regiments have been relieved of their commands by royal decree. Count Devillar, who was removed as captain-general of Madrid, has been succeeded by General Rios.

There are also grave rumors of a Carlist uprising, and it is understood that Don Jaime of Bourbon, the Spanish pretender, is preparing to issue a manifesto describing the ruin of fallen Spain since the dethronement of his great-grandfather, attacking the Free Thinkers, Protestants and other enemies of social order, and appealing for a revival of Catholic unity as the only means for Spanish regeneration.

The articles in The Correspondencia Militar, which revealed the plot of the Conservatives to embroil the army with the government, were written by Senor Llorens, a Carlist deputy and officer, who used a pseudonym. The issue of the paper was suppressed, whereupon a demonstration of army officers was made in front of the newspaper office.

This demonstration was followed by a cabinet meeting, attended by King Alfonso at which drastic measures were decided upon.

RECOUNT OF BOSTON VOTE

Demand Filed at Last Moment by Both Fitzgerald and Storow

Boston, Jan. 15.—Both Mayor-elect John F. Fitzgerald and James J. Storrow have filed with the election commissioners petitions for a recount of Tuesday's mayoralty vote. Storrow's representatives ask a recount of the vote of all four mayoralty candidates.

The filing of both petitions was attended by not a little excitement. Both sides jockeyed with each other almost up to the last minute. Storrow's papers not being filed with the election board until within four minutes of 5 o'clock, which was the last time for filing, and Fitzgerald's papers not being presented until about a minute later.

POSED AS GOVERNOR'S SON

So Says Complainant Against Man Who Is Charged With Forgery

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 15.—Harry L. Wood, who claims good connections in Chicago, was arrested here, charged with forgery.

I. B. Walker swore out the warrant, which charged that Wood presented two checks for $100 each, purporting to be signed by Warren L. Douglas, a son of former Governor Douglas of Massachusetts. Walker charges that Wood posed as young Douglas.

CHAMBERLAIN ELECTED

Four Other Unionists Returned to Parliament Without Opposition

London, Jan. 15.—The first five members of the new parliament were returned unopposed. The general election began with nominations in eighty constituencies, and the first polling began today.

The candidates returned were ex-Colonial Secretary Joseph Chamberlain, Lord Hugh Cecil, Sir William P. Anson, John Weller and Walter Guinness. All are Unionists.

Expelled From Stock Exchange

New York, Jan. 15.—The board of governors of the Consolidated stock exchange expelled K. K. Jenkins, who has been a member of the exchange for a quarter of a century. The charge given in the expulsion order was "obvious fraud."

In the Business World

New York, Jan. 15.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that notwithstanding the seasonable bill in business, general conditions are fully normal, and the volume of trade is very large.

BLIZZARD IS WIDESPREAD

Traffic Hampered in Many Cities and Vessels Reported Ashore

Boston, Jan. 15.—Whipped by the second furious blizzard within twenty days, the whole upper Atlantic coast is buried in snow drifts, piled up before a gale that varied in intensity from thirty-eight to seventy miles an hour.

At sea various casualties are reported. Two schooners went ashore, the Angia F. Condon at Portsmouth, N. H., and the Frances Whelan in Boston harbor. Along the entire coast from Cape Hatteras northward, every lifesaving station had crews on the alert throughout the night, as it is feared other wrecks will result from the high winds and rough seas.

Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington felt the full effects of the blizzard. In every one of these cities transportation was more or less tied up, street traffic interfered with, telegraph and telephone communication hampered, and much suffering caused among the poor.

Three persons died from exposure in New York and one in Providence. Several were injured by falls in Boston.

SHOWY INAUGURATIONS

Chief Reason For Wanting Inaugural Date Changed, Says Perkins

Washington, Jan. 15.—Declaring that the inauguration of the president, once a "quiet and decorous" event, has grown into an "enormous assemblage and show," Representative Perkins of New York addressed the house in opposition to a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution of the United States changing the inaugural date.

Mr. Perkins said all the clamor for the change in date had come from the city of Washington. He said satirically he was just as anxious to amend the constitution so as to have a pleasant day for inauguration as he was to insure a nice day for the three-ring circus.

HOPELESS WRECK TO BE ABANDONED

Passengers All Rescued as Steamer Strikes on Rocks

Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 15.—The Merchants and Miners' company's steamer Chatham, Captain Freeman, from Baltimore, via Savannah, for Jacksonville, with thirty-eight first class passengers, went ashore on the north jetty at the entrance of the St. John's river and will be abandoned as a hopeless wreck. What caused the accident has not yet been learned.

The Clyde liner Mohawk, from New York, which was close behind the Chatham when she went on the rocks, immediately sent small boats to her assistance and passengers were taken off.

There is fourteen feet of water in the Chatham's hold, making it impossible to save any portion of her cargo. Lighters have been sent to the ship to remove the fittings.

INDICTMENT OF HEIKE

Secretary of Sugar Company Said to Be the "Man Higher Up"

New York, Jan. 15.—The federal grand jury has got the "man higher up" in the sugar trust. An indictment was handed down against Charles H. Heike, secretary and treasurer of the American Sugar Refining company, and five others, as a result of the investigation into the sugar weighing frauds, for which five men were recently convicted and four sentenced to prison for a year.

The other five men are E. W. Gerbracht, former general superintendent of the Williamsburg plant; J. F. Bendernagel, former cashier; H. W. Walker, assistant superintendent of the docks; J. M. Volker and J. F. Halligan, both formerly checkers.

LID GOES ON IN SALEM

SEND STEAMSHIPS HERE

The big White Star steamers Laurandian and Magantic threaten to leave Montreal unless Canada grants them a large subsidy.

It would be cheaper for Canada to send them from this port where they can carry full cargoes and need no subsidy.

The treacherousness of the St. Lawrence river channel below Montreal is the reason for the demand of the steamship company upon the Canadian government, which is so bad that those large ships are unable to take full cargoes.

The shipping of Canadian produce to Europe under those conditions must be extremely expensive.

FISH AND GAME PROTECTION

There is evidently a bad hole in the New Hampshire fish and game laws. The Lancet Democrat tells about it as follows:

The New Hampshire fish and game commissioners and themselves up against a peculiar condition of financial affairs in their department. The commissioners assisted in the passage of the new law for the registration of resident hunters, with the idea of getting a bigger fund for the protection and propagation of fish and game, and of course the non-resident hunters' registration measure was put through the legislature with the same object in view. The law provides that the money received for the issuing of hunting licenses be paid into the state treasury and may be used from time to time by the fish and game commissioners, as they may deem necessary, with the approval of the governor and council, for the protection and propagation of fish and game. The revenue derived this year from the sale of resident and non-resident hunters' licenses will aggregate about $27,500, but the commissioners find that they cannot use any of this money for enlarging the work of their department, for State Auditor Fellows points to another act passed by the same legislature which says that no money shall be paid from the state treasury for any purpose, without a specific appropriation authorizing the expenditure. The only specific appropriation made for the fish and game department was $8,000, which is specifically divided up into chunks for salaries, transportation, detective work, printing, general expenses, etc. The amount appropriated for detective work, or for enforcing the fish and game laws, has already been expended, so we are informed, and if the state auditor's ruling stands, as it is to be presumed it will, this branch of the fish and game commissioners' duties will be suspended entirely until another year's appropriation becomes available. And, moreover, none of that $27,500 which the legislature evidently intended to be expended in improving fishing and hunting in New Hampshire can be devoted for that purpose, with the exception of the $8,000 mentioned above, consequently about $19,500 of fish and game money will go into the state treasury to be paid out to help maintain the labor bureau, pay bounties on bears and grasshoppers, and for numerous charitable and educational branches of endeavor in which New Hampshire is so extensively engaged. Probably State Auditor Fellows is right in his ruling in this case, but the next legislature should tinker up the Pub. State again, so that the money which sportsmen pay for their permits shall be expended so far as practical in making the department self-supporting, and leaves a big balance which by good rights ought to be devoted to the protection and propagation of fish and game, so far as practicable, and even if every cent of the revenue thus derived was expended along these lines, the state of New Hampshire would be a gainer by the operation, for everybody will cheerfully admit that the men who are attracted to the Granite state by the fishing and hunting leave large sums of money in the aggregate with our transportation companies, hotels, guides and merchants in nearly all lines, so that practically everybody engaged in business derives a direct or indirect benefit from this department.

THE HERALD HEARS

That Court Rockingham, Foresters of America, will install new officers on Monday evening next.

That we will yet hear good news from the paper company.

That the life savers want the service reorganized as well as the navy. That the best thing to fight for at present in the interest of the navy yard is more quay wall.

That the man who predicted an open winter certainly has another guess. That the fog horn on Whalesback light has been working overtime of late.

That William Leach, an old time workman in the bridge crew of the Boston and Maine railroad, who has been ill at his home in Elliot, will soon be back in the gang.

That the Nantucket Pilgrims who came to the city on Wednesday as guests of H. Fisher Eldridge should have their next outing here in the summer.

That Newburyport is having considerable trouble in finding out just what kind of water the people are drinking there.

That the hook and ladder horses were all in before starting out with the truck on Friday.

That Marcellus Fernald, who has been at the Cottage Hospital for treatment, has recovered and is out once more.

That if things keep on the only money spent on City Hall will be that which is used for new plans every now and then.

That Representative Doyle of New Bedford is thinking of introducing a bill in the Massachusetts legislature against curious telephone subscribers who are caught listening and the fine is fifty dollars. As for Portsmouth some people would be bankrupt under this plan.

That the school for children of foreign birth now in operation at the high school building is proving to be a very successful move on the part of those interested.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

The Hook and Ladder Delays
Editor Herald: Portsmouth can boast of its fire department and the work of its members, but, in doing so, the hook and ladder service cannot possibly be included for this end of the department is a farce and the sooner some action is taken the better for the city.

On Friday when the alarm sounded from box 51, the horses that haul this important piece of apparatus were harnessed up to a big ash cart somewhere about the city and had to drag the load to the Central fire station, where they were detached from the load and put on the pole of the ladder truck. It was a pitiful sight to see these animals completely exhausted before leaving the fire with this ancient junk trap on wheels. As usual the outfit arrived when the rest of the apparatus was nearly ready to start back.

I want to ask the city fathers and officials of the fire department what is going to be the result when ladders are needed badly at a fire and such conditions prevail. The same good luck will not always favor the fire department and sooner or later we will be caught napping.

It's a quick and sure way to kill horses and discourage men who are obliged to work under such conditions.

Let us hope that the next committee on fire department will have some pride other than running the department on the cheap scale.

S. L. M.

Portsmouth, Jan. 15.

The fight for city offices is now over and the members of the council will now take a much needed rest.

The Advantage of the Income Tax.

LOCAL taxes in the United States, though different from those in England, do not in any way tend to counteract the tendency of the federal taxes, rather they serve to emphasize the same evils. According to all authorities local taxes bear most heavily on small incomes and properties. Intangible personality rarely pays its fair share. The tax on this kind of property should be abolished and some equitable tax imposed in its stead.

Other benefits accompany a well devised system of income taxes. In this country the government has suffered alternately from surplus revenue and from deficits. Both are demoralizing. At critical periods, such as the years of the Civil War and of the Spanish war, a hastily improvised system of indirect taxes has been established in the United States, leading inevitably to gross discrimination and inequality of wealth. Most of these evils can be avoided under an effective system of income taxes. Such a tax is elastic and, within reasonable limits, renders it possible to adjust revenue to expenditure.

An income tax stimulates greater interest in public affairs because those who pay taxes directly to the government wish to know the disposition that is made of their money.

In Great Britain there has been a very decided and steady advance in political efficiency during the past 50 or 60 years and we may ascribe at least a share of this gain to the beneficial action of the income tax. Good citizenship requires that we should do away with tax dodging and discrimination. The American people have been called a nation of "tax dodgers." This widespread evil may be ascribed rather to the inequity of our taxing system than to any weakness of human nature. Establish a well devised, moderate, flexible and efficient system of federal taxation of incomes and we reduce the evils of evasion and discrimination to a minimum.

THE OBSERVER.

THE TRACE OF BABY HANDS

The house is in a turmoil, and all around the place are scattered little trinkets and of baby hands the trace; Bright picture books lie on the floor, toy dishes lie about; It looks as if an army had passed through in utter rout. There's gum on the piano keys and scratches on the chairs, And from a jumbled heap of toys a "teddy" fiercely glares; The windows are all sticky and there's hardly room to stir, Because the house is cluttered up with what belongs to her.

She is never still a moment during hours when she's awake; There is no such thing as quiet—what a racket she can make; And she can ask a thousand questions, and before one can reply— She can ask a thousand others and not even blink an eye, Through the house like a young tempest doth she thunder on her way; And all else is secondary to the baby and her play; She's a jolly bunch of nuisance, she's a hurricane of joy, And how quickly are forgotten all the things that might annoy.

Upstairs upon a pillow there's a little tousled head, With clinging curls all clustered round and cheeks a rosy red; She has said her "Now I lay me" and "I pray thee, Lord to keep" And may the God who heard her safely guard her while asleep! Oh, riches, what are riches, what are treasures vast and rare? What can this whole world proffer that with baby can compare? But the house is in a turmoil, and all around the place, Thank God, are little trinkets, and of baby hands the trace.

Small Tommy—Well, mamma, it's better to have a good square fight and get all the mad out of you than to carry it in you for months like girls do.—Chicago News.

A western inventor, A. C. Howard, has invented a little device to prevent "rubbering in" on the telephone conversation of two persons over the wire, without their knowing who is doing the rubbering. The invention is no larger than an ordinary alarm clock and the moment a receiver is taken down while a talkfest is on a signal is passed along the line, and, as each phone has a different signal, it is at once made known who the third party is. While this improvement would be greatly appreciated by the general public, there are many who would miss quite a bit of their ordinary day's pleasure. And if the device were adopted in Portsmouth, there would be some people who would not like it a bit.

Here is one business man's New Year's resolution:
Early to bed—
Early to rise—
Work like thunder and advertise.

A good story is told in the Shoe and Leather Reporter of a former shoe manufacturer who dispatched his salesman on a visit to his whole-sale trade. After the salesman had been out for two weeks, it occurred to the manufacturer that he would himself go out over the route taken by the salesman. He visited a New York state wholesaler and solicited an order for shoes. He was shown a sample shoe and said to the wholesaler: "What price was named on that shoe?" The wholesaler named the price and said that he had placed a large order with a salesman but did not state what manufacturer the salesman represented. He said to the wholesaler: "I will take an order from you at five cents a pair below what you may pay." The wholesaler replied: "If you will put that in writing I will give you the order I placed and will send in a countermand to the house represented by the salesman." The order was placed and the agreement duly signed. When the manufacturer reached home he found an order from his salesman for the identical quantity of shoes from the wholesaler he had himself closed with at five cents lower price, and the next day received a countermand to the order his salesman had secured.

Few people know that there is such a thing as a substitute for salt. If there is any one thing more important than anything else in the provision sack of the camper, it is salt. If his knowledge of the country includes a good idea of where the salt licks may be found, well and good; but woe to him who ventures forth and finds his salt giving out! Nothing can take the place of it; but your woodsman of experience finds a fair substitute for it in the ashes of growth rich in nitre, such as tobacco, Indian corn, sunflower and hickory bark. Strange to say, the next best substitute for salt among the regular forms of seasoning is sugar. It is used in cold regions a great deal and is said to be pleasing to the palate when one becomes accustomed to it. Maple syrup is used in places where it can be had, and wild honey also when boiled and skimmed, is excellent for the purpose.—Leslie's Weekly.

A rumor reaches the Observer that the Nine O'clock club is contemplating changing its name to The Spooners' club. One of the members told me a few days ago, when asked about the proposed change in the handle of society's dipper, that he doubted very much if the move went through, owing to the revolutionists, a number of whom are charter members.

REWARDS.

The cobbler was an honest man. He always did his duty; The plunks he got from mending shoes.

He wisely called his booty.—Columbia Jester.
Sheep raising was the ranchman's trade, He had uncommon luck; And every ten-spot that he made He spoke of as a buck.

—Boston American.
A baker mixed a batch of bread, He mixed it with a hoe; He sold it and 'tis widely said, His proceeds he called dough.

—D. S. Harrington.
A picture maker took a shot As practised by his craft; And when he got his pay, he said: "A little more for graphed."

—Newburyport News.
A miner dug himself a hole, And then he sold some stocks, And, as he pocketed the rail, He said: "I like my rocks."

The auto, which was once looked upon as a vehicle for summer use only is now commonly kept in commission the year 'round. Some machines are out, even when the snow flies. The rapid increase in the use of automobiles, especially in the cities, makes more important than ever the matter of clearing snow from the streets. It is quite possible that in the near future, in the large cities, certain streets will be entirely cleared of snow, so that autos may run over bare pavements. In the smaller cities the autos take to the clearing made by the plows of the trolley cars. It is not beyond the dreams of any person to imagine that the music of sleigh bells will give way to the honk of the auto horn at some future day.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

SEWING BAG.

Buttonholing is the unique edge along the heading of a crash bag, and its extreme richness is due to the depth of the stitch and the heavy linen floss which has been used for the work. Each stitch extends down from the edge on to the crash of the heading almost a third of an inch, and the work, while close and even, is not packed so tightly as to disturb the heading by anything approaching stiffness. The linen floss is burnt orange in color and the Russian crash is natural in tone. Inch-long button-holed loops have been placed at intervals round the bag in the space usually allotted to a casing. Through these loops are run two cords made from crash ravelings, for it would be less artistic to draw a line of color round the outside of this soft-toned crash.

LABOR LIFTS.

The kitchen stove is kept bright and clean by rubbing it briskly after the cooking of each meal with old papers, and thus saves many polishings.

To clean the sink of its grease and sediment nothing is better, for the greasy paper can be at once burned after use.

Newspapers dipped in lamp oil are splendid for cleaning windows.

Torn in shreds, slightly dampened and scattered over the carpet, they keep down the dust when sweeping.

Many times folded they will serve as a mat to stand hot and blackened pots or kettles on, and thus save soiling the kitchen table.

To wipe up spilled water or grease from the floor they save the wringing out of a cloth.

Irons not much soiled can be rubbed on old newspapers and thus made fit for use.

They can even be used for an iron holder in an emergency.

Dipped in lamp oil they are splendid to rub the outside of the tin dish pan. They keep it bright and shining.

I've found nothing better for using under carpets than old newspapers, as moths do not like printer's ink.

To wrap furs and woollens in for the summer they are good.

POLICE COURT

Colored People in a Mix and War-rants are Numerous

A colored delegation had the boards in the police court today and there was a combination of trouble leading up from the arrest of Patrick McCoy on Friday night.
William Webster, who conducts a pool room and barber shop on Ceres street, caused the arrest of McCoy, who has for some time been anchored at the barber's chair in the river-side tenement rooms. He claimed that McCoy lifted $1.00 in money and a box of cigars valued at $9.00. McCoy says he didn't and Webster says he did.
McCoy turns the trick on Webster and orders a warrant for his arrest. He says Webster runs a gambling joint and that crap shooting is the pastime there. Webster was accordingly dragged up before the tribunal.
The arrests did not end here and in the mixup and arguments relative to who was breaking the law some body named Emma Cole as the third colored party and said Emma was disposing of booze unlawfully on Charles street.
Emma, like the rest, declared she was innocent and the whole bunch were bound over in the sum of $100 each for a hearing on Tuesday next.

AN IDEAL HAIR PREPARATION
Woods Hutchinson, M. D., a writer of authority, says: "The main hope of stopping the advance of baldness lies in the direction of improving the general health, while at the same time keeping the scalp and the hair in a clean, antiseptic, well ventilated condition. Avoid using strong soaps, strong alkalis, such as ammonia and soda and too hot water." An ideal preparation for washing the hair and scalp is Birt's Head Wash, because it contains no alkali or ammonia. It is made of Refined Soap, Coconut Oil, Glycerin, White of Egg and Salicylic Acid. These are the best things known for Filling Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff.

EDWARD P. GALLOUP

Death of One of Wealthiest Men in New Hampshire

Lebanon, N. H., Jan. 15.—Edward Payson Gallop, reputed to be one of the wealthiest men in this state, died here Friday at the age of 72. Mr. Gallop was born in this town in 1838. At the age of 14 he removed to Hanover where he followed the occupation of a telegraph operator for nearly four years.

When 19 years of age Mr. Gallop went to Indianapolis where he accumulated a fortune in the grain business. His desire to lead a quiet life in the East induced him in 1894 to return to his former home at Lebanon, where he had since resided. His estate is supposed to be more than $1,200,000.

Our Idea in Advertising

Is not so much to sell a Suit or Overcoat as it is to get a customer. There is a big difference between selling a man a suit and getting him for a regular customer.

But our object is to sell a man such a good suit the first time that he comes back for another one next season, and keeps coming back until he gets the habit of coming—a habit that he finds too good to break.

There are many things about our Suits and Overcoats that we could tell you; but long years of experience tells us, that a satisfied customer is one of the best advertisements a Tailor can have.

Let us make you a Suit or Overcoat this season.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigour, weakened manhood; falling memory, and lumb back, brought on by excesses, and nocturnal drains or the like. It is a youth that has cured so many of his kind, and nervous weakness in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think it would be a man who wishes to regain his manly power and vivacity, quickly and safely should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of a prescription, free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope, to any man who will write me for it. This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men, and I am convinced it is the most acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and for ever put together.

I think I owe to my fellow man to send them a copy of my confidence, that any man, anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, suffer what I believe, is the quickest, restoring, restorative, up building, SPORTING remedy ever devised, and so, cure himself at home quickly and cheaply. Just drop me a line to this: Dr. A. E. Robinson 4724 E. 13th St., Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid receipt. In a plain, ordinary sealed envelope, free of charge.

Owing to the protest made by the Portsmouth Ministerial Association against the production of the Oberammergau Passion Play stereoscopic pictures on Sunday evening next, Mercedes Aerle, No. 82, P. O. E., under those auspices it was to be produced, have changed the date to Thursday evening, Jan. 20. All tickets having the date of Jan. 16 will be exchanged for reserved seats at the box office. Notwithstanding the enormous expense that Mercedes Aerle has incurred to, they do not desire to interfere with the observance of the Sabbath and did not realize they were doing by presenting the Passion Play on Sunday, as it has been predicted on the above day in nearly every city in New England.

ten. The first two are the most common, and the last two are the least common. The first two are the most common, and the last two are the least common.

For, and he told him, as you all know, that it was used for washing purposes and that a little package of it was worth about ten cents. Aaron thought that if this was the price what he had seen must be worth thousands of dollars.

"The next morning, after the tramp's departure, Aaron talked over with Rosie what had been said about the borax deposits. He thought it was possible that what he had seen in Death valley might be borax. But even if it were there he had no means of discovering whether what he had seen was borax or ordinary salt.

"'Rosie, dear,' said Aaron, 'I would like you to go to a town where you can get these chemicals for testing borax, for it will require a week or two, during which I shall have to stay here alone. Then when you come back we shall have to make a trip to Death valley, and after all our trouble there isn't a chance in a dozen that what I have seen there will turn out to be borax.'

"'I really think, Aaron,' replied the wife, 'that the chances don't warrant a trouble, but I'm worn out with this degradation and am yearning to see people. I feel as if I must have one of my own sex to talk to, even if only for a day.'

"'Well, sweetheart, go, but don't stay any longer than to have a good chat, for I'm very anxious to make the test.'

"So the next day Aaron took her where she could get some one to take her on farther and left her to go back to the cabin. As she kissed him goodbye she looked at him wistfully and said:

"'Aaron, I won't leave you again. I know how lonely you are without me, how hard it is for you to have to get your meals, and I worry for fear something will happen to you. What would you do while I am away? If you should become sick or meet with an accident?'

"'Never mind about that, Rosie,' bringing back the chemicals as soon as you can.'

"'Oh, there's nothing in that, Aaron. Don't think about it. You're sure to be disappointed.'

"They parted, Rosie going on and Aaron going back to the cabin. He seemed very quiet there without his wife, and he wished it was the end instead of the beginning of their separation. After he had cooked and eaten his supper he sat smoking his pipe, thinking about what the tramp had told him. He realized that there was scarcely a chance of what he had seen being borax, but the thought of what would happen if it should be borax sent a thrill all through him. He would be the only person to know it, and no one was likely to come into Death valley to learn of the secret before he had established a legal claim to all the property located in the place.

"In ten days Rosie came back with substance she had obtained from chemicals. But neither she nor Aaron thought much about this, they were glad to meet again. After a day or two Rosie spoke of it and asked her husband when he was going to Death valley. He said he was going for a while, but he was sure he would be able to do nothing. But she did that since they had the material they might as well make the trip, so he would go with him.

"So the next day Rosie spent the morning preparing a magnificent antelope steak; this was all there was, since they lived only on game and in the afternoon they set out for the valley.

"They reached their destination some time before sunset, and, having procured some of the substance they had gone for, they mixed it with the chemicals. But they did not wish to ignite it till night came, but as the night might be able by day to tell whether or not the flame was green. More than an hour must elapse before it would be dark, and they spent the interval in suspense, so much depended on what they hoped for. Aaron did not care so much for himself directly. It was of Rosie he was thinking. For years he had kept her in the wilderness, and now if this substance were borax he could take her where ever she cared to go. While he was thinking of this the wife's mind was full of dread, lest her husband, who had built great hopes on this matter, should be disappointed.

"The sun set, darkness came, and yet Winters delayed to apply the match.

"'Why don't you light that, Aaron,' asked Rosie.

"'Aaron made no reply. None was needed. His wife knew he dreaded the disappointment that both felt was almost sure to come. They had heard no careful description of the appearance of the substance the tramp had seen, and even if they had there might be resemblance without the substance being at all alike. What folly to expect that they were the same!

"Then Aaron scratched a match and held it to the combination. It blazed up in a bright flame.

"'It burns green, Rosie!' he shouted. 'We're rich!'

"'So they were for people who have been so poor. They sold their property for $20,000.

"But they were not city people and would not enjoy a city life. Therefore the fortune they acquired was all they needed to make them comfortable at home. They bought a ranch in Nevada, where they enjoyed a country life, and had all the neighbors they wished for.

"That's the story, my dears, as I heard it, and I think it's about as it happened. The west is full of such wonderful cases of people without money, even in rags, lighting upon something of great value to make them rich. It was not riches that Aaron Winters and his wife required to make them happy, but sufficient means to enable them to leave the Death valley region."

JANUARY CLEARANCE SALE

Here is a Sale Without a Precedent

Facts bear out the above statement. Many important sales have been launched and completed by us, but a price lowering event so far reaching in its scope, so entirely without equal in values involved, has never before been considered here or elsewhere.

Every article of Merchandise included has been subjected to a Price Reduction so radical as to bring cost to an almost unbelievable degree of littleness

We have gone through our various departments with a strenuous hand gathering up all the season's left-overs and giving everyone of them notice to leave in the low prices affixed. There is nothing half hearted about our determination to be rid of this merchandise and make room for Spring shipments. No matter how attractive the styles or excellent the qualities, all have been sacrificed to our never-carry-over policy. You know the kind of goods our stocks comprise—standard grades which represent an excellent investment at regular prices.

Sale begins MONDAY, JAN. 17 8.30 a.m.
